

Affinity Classics Announces New College Chair

Affinity Classics Has Released its New and Improved Version of the Affinity Classic Alumni Chair — New Construction and Joinery — College Chairs Built by Amish Craftsmen

September 1, 2014

Montrose, CO – Affinity Classics LLC announced today that it will begin delivering its New Version of The Affinity Classic Alumni Chair, the first modern college chair of the collegiate products market. The new version is being built entirely in the United States. Management of Affinity Classics has chosen domestic suppliers in order to improve quality, reduce delivery times, introduce innovation, and take advantage of the pervasive preference of the Americans markets for domestically produced products.

The Affinity Classic Alumni Chair is constructed with exceptionally strong joinery that represents the best of Amish construction techniques and is built to last for generations. The chair may be the most comfortable hardwood chair you will ever experience. Normally made of maple and finished in black lacquer, other woods can be requested at an additional charge. Affinity Classic Alumni Chairs are made of wood from Ohio forests, cut in Ohio sawmills, and designed, constructed, and finished by our Amish craftsmen in northeastern Ohio. The company's chairs are sourced, built, finished and upholstered in Ohio. Learn more about the Affinity Classic Alumni Chair and others at <http://affinityclassics.com/>.

Affinity Classics LLC

Affinity Classic is a manufacturer of hardwood college chairs that represent colleges, universities, businesses, and other organizations the members of which demonstrate loyalty for their former association and former associates.
